Your Intuitive Art Message from Lisa

When I first connected to your energy I heard this message, "Reach for the Stars", anything is possible. You are a true divine light embodied in human form. You feel like you are always reaching but just quite can't get there. You are "THERE" and you are on your path. Rise above all of the anchors, struggles, obstacles and fears you are feeling. They are NOT TRUE, this is your self negative talk that you are saying to yourself. Give yourself more LOVE and KINDNESS. Practice your meditation each day and at times slowly move out of your body to get a better perspective of where you have been, where you are presently and where you are going. You have accomplished so much and you are blessed. Anything is possible and reach for the stars—universe and beyond. Let your divine light shine and send out more of your healing gifts. You have so much inside of you. Remember to treat yourself with love and kindness first and then you can help others. Take more time to dream and bring your abundance of ideas to fruition.

Your original IAM piece of artwork is 8" x 8" and mounted on an 11" x 11" matte board.

The symbol of the colors used:

Red (Root Chakra)– Connect to the earth and ground yourself. Trust and get the root of family issues and family history and trust that you have all of the knowledge inside you. Set healthy boundaries. Call in Archangel Michael to help you release any fears you have and he will offer you the healing gifts of protection.

Green (Heart Chakra) – Let your emotions out and as you do, trust and follow your heart. Be more compassionate, forgiving, kind and loving to yourself. Follow the paths that make your heart sing. Call in Angel Cassiel and she will help you clear any heartache or betrayal you feel and will offer you the healing gift of unconditional love.

Pink (Heart 4th Chakra) – This is the centre chakra having three chakras above it and three below. It is also connected to your heart chakra too. It represents love, relationships and spiritually. Pink can be a calming color and also inspiring. Embrace this color pink and feel more of comfort and joy. Call in Angel Cassiel and she will help you clear any heart blockages or concerns. She will offer you a blanket of the healing gift of love, kindness and gentleness.

Blue (Throat Chakra) – Continue to use your voice and communicate what you truly want. Say it out aloud so the universe, guides, loved ones and angels hear you. Speak, write and believe your own truth. Call in Angel Celestina she will help you clear away any stuck feelings of not being able to express yourself and offer you the healing gifts of creative and self expression.

Violet (Crown Chakra) – Connect more to the universe and reach for the stars. You are spiritually connected and aware of your truth. Stepping into your own inner wisdom, joy and wholeness you will discover more of the inner peace. Call in Angel Ariel and she will help you clear your limiting human beliefs and will offer to help you awaken to your soul's mission and passions.

The symbol of the kite: These kites represent freedom and good luck as they fly high in the sky. The kites suggest how you are testing the waters of your own ambition. Try going with the flow of the events that are happening in your life and see where they may lead. It's time to reel in your aspirations, goals and dreams. Do not give up. Pretend that you are a kite and let loose and fly. You are not tied down, anything is possible. One of the kites has wings of an angel on it, to remind you have millions of angels around you supporting you and cheering you on.

The symbols of the ocean: You have many journeys to take and the ocean represents vitality and eternal life. The ocean is boundless where one can get easily lost. Remember you are experiencing an openness and you are not lost, you are right where you need to be. Allow the currents, gentleness of the waves take you where you want to be. When you are meditating, imagine yourself floating in the ocean water and let the salt water clear away any toxin energy that no longer serve you. Letting yourself feel light, buoyant and rejuvenated again. Remember this will help you feel connected again to yourself and the world.

The symbols of the moon and stars: Stars are magical energy. They are beacons of hope, shining lights that can help guide your way. The moon at any phase can remind you that you have wisdom, intuition, and a deep spiritual connection to all phases of life. Remember there is birth, death and reincarnation. You have been through this many lifetimes and all of those connections run through you. In this lifetime there are things, habits, stresses and anchors that you must let go of. Look up into the night sky and ask your angel, guardians, masters and loved ones for their help letting them go. Call in Archangel Micheal to help cut those cords that no longer serve you in this lifetime. You will feel lighter and happier.

The symbol of the dark blue starry night sky peeking through the background: This is a reminder that you are connected to the universe and stars. You have infinite possibilities and messages, synchronicity, symbols and signs are coming to you. These messages are often signs that can reassure you that you are on the right path. You just need to be open to this. The stars are a beacon of hope; sending you positivity, love, happiness and renewal.

Heartlinks and blessings,
